Operation 'Safety Stop' Is Success

There was shade under the Rescue Squad tent--and friendly smiles, too, for travelers on Route 460 over the Fourth of July week end. One young visitor from Appomattox is little Charles Atkinson shown with his mother, Mrs. Graf Atkinson and Rescue Squad member Carl Martin. Squad members sold safety flares for Jaycees, copies of the Appomattox history book by Mrs. L. L. Stanley and dispensed cup after cup of hot coffee and glasses of iced tea to motorists. Others in the photo to are Squad members and family members lending a hand.

The Pastor Speaks

SHOW IT WITH LOVE

Avivim is an Israeli village on the Lebanese border near which a group of Israeli school children lost their lives some weeks back. It is a depressing group of quickly built shacks which were thrown together in 1963 for a group of unskilled Jewish immigrants from the country of Morocco. One of the inhabitants of Avivim is Moshe Mosoyef. He is a thin man of 52, and he earns $ 3.45 a day building roads. From this sum he is supposed to support a sick wife and seven children all under 13 years of age, Mosoyef said to a news correspondent, "Nobody cares. Nobody helps. We starve here. We get sick here. I don't want to stay here. Nobody wants to stay. It is an awful place. Nobody cares about us. I wouldn't care if gold fell down from the sky."

The news correspondent went throughout the village asking other villagers if they intended to remain on the frontier. One response was, "We won't be driven out of this area by the Fatah (the Arab guerilla movement) . . . , but the cold hearts of our own people in Tel Aviv, that can drive us out."

These are words from people who in most instances do not claim to be Christians. The application to these words, however, is very pertinent to Christianity. Just how do Christian people demonstrate the genuiness of their love to others? These poor Israeli settlers feel unloved, unwanted, unneeded, uncared for. Jesus said in John 13:35, "By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another."

Jesus was saying that people will know that we belong to him by the love, concern, and interest that we manifest in each other.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Morris Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Billy Chappell of Dillwyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Baldwin and family of Rustburg visited Mrs. Ruth Beasley Sunday. Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Forbes for the week end were Mr. and Mrs. John Meek and family of Virginia Beach.

an estimated 60 percent of consumer expenditures are for food.

Last year when the housewife spent $1 on food, she bought 41 cents worth of products and 59 cents worth of marketing and service.

The farmers share of the food dollar varies widely between products. For example; a farmer receives 73 cents from a dollar spent for butter and only 8 cents from a dollar spent for corn flakes.

These figures point out the important role the farmer plays in providing the consumer with a continuous supply for fresh, healthful food.

Who is the consumer? It's all of us, farmers included.

91 Enrolled In Evergreen

Ninety-one pupils and teachers were enrolled in the Evergreen Baptist Bible School this year for two weeks of instruction and good times. Church pastor, the Rev. Vergil Hudson was the director, assisted by Mrs. Hudson. Like so many other churches in the area, VBS at Evergreen Baptist provides boys and girls with additional Bible study and training --and a good chance to get together. That daily refreshment time with cool drinks and cookies helps a lot, too!

Still Plenty Of Time To Play

There's still plenty of time for pre-schoolers to play during the summer session of the Pre-School Orientation and Readiness Program now in progress at Appomattox Primary School. Here Mrs. Carolyn Coleman's class, with Mrs. Sandra Mitchell substituting for Mrs. Hamner Robertson as aide for the day, engage in a variety of outdoor games and exercises. The tricycle and wagons are a special delight, and Mrs. Coleman (at far right) knows many games that begin with a circle of admiring boys and girls. Enrolled in this class are Erma Jean Austin, Jacquetta Booker, Kimberly Carter, Cheryl Davis, Linda Elder, Lynn Evans, Diane Franklin, Veronica Gordon, Wanda Reed, Valerie Stevens, Angela White and Felicia Moore. Also, John Baxter, James Hix, Earl Jenkins, Edwin Lewis, Jimmy McFadden, Jesse Matthews, Frederick Napier, Steven Nash and William Thornton.

The ungodly are not so, but are like the chaff which the wind driveth away. Psalm 1:4.

Pamplin United Methodist Church has let a contract to J. Sears and Company to build an Educational Building and remodel the Sanctuary, costing about $60,000.00, construction will begin soon.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Coleman and grandsons of Norfolk are spending sometime at their country home.

Miss Merle Davis returned home Friday after a ten-day work shop at the Mary Baldwin College, Fredericksburg.

Miss Flora Belle Williams is spending this week with Mrs. Gladys Woodson. She will leave next Saturday for a two-weeks stay at the camp for the visually handicapped in Burkeville.

There Are Ups . . .

That there are "ups" and "downs" for people and companies is quite evident in Pamplin where Black Industries, Inc. is adding telephone cable to lines stretching out the Madisonville road, a contract job for First Colony Telephone Company.

. . . And Downs For Telephone Co.

The "downs" of the project are shown here where workers have found rock in the ditch along the highway to Madisonville from Pamplin being used to bury telephone cable. The heavy machinery for the operation is just behind these workers who are using an air hammer to break up rock. All together, 900,000 feet of cable is being used in current expansion operations with 125,000 feet of cable in this one section of cable laying between the town outskirts and Madisonville.
